The Blairmore Post Office

To The Editor The Blai Dear Sir:—L The Blairmore Enterprise, Dear Sir:—In your issue of November 28th, you in your editorial column had an article entitled the "Blairmore Post Office," with the tenor of which we agree.

The post office is a joke. To say tha we are disgusted with the farce that is be we are disgusted with the farce that is be-ing enacted, daily, re-postal matters putting it mildly. Let us give an ex-panting it mildly. Let us give an ex-ample of how the post office is managed; to 0.0 Monday, the 8th instant, we visited the place at intervals, only to find the place blocked. Finally we obtained our mair at 2 p.m. The reason for the delay is evident. There is only one attendant, namely Misc Chatfield, an estimable lady, who is exceeded to handle the ceneral namely Misc Chatfield, an estimable bady, who is expected to handle the general delivery, money order, and registration business mandled from one vicket.

Ignoring the conditions in the post office, which permit of watering at times or a shower-bath from the leaking celling at other times, to say, nothing of the outside door that opens differently from any door in any public institution in the world. Ignoring these matters, we repeat, we would perhaps, overgook them but for the fact that once inside the hoved one is expedied to is admittabled. but for the fact that once inside the hovel one is compiled to 'stand hiddled together with twelve or fifteen 'more citi-zena like a bunch of cattle at a branding chuic', turning over in our minds whether to play a frezze out game or go outside to seek relief from the fetid atmosphere. Such is the treatment handed out to the citizens of Illairmore by an employe of faithful services that lady has faithful services that lady has well earned the position, and the citizens of Blair-more could rest assured that In the event of Miss Charfield taking full charge, the post office, instead of being a disgrace as at present, would be a credit to the Town of Blairmore.

Yours truly,

FAIR PLAY,
Blairmore, Dec. 10, 1913.
